MY DREAM TRAVEL DESTINATION

I would love to go to Paris because it is a romantic city which is international and famous. The city of love has a unique atmosphere that fascinates me every time I see it in videos. I'm especially impressed by the famous landmarks like the Eiffel Tower, the Louvre, Notre-Dame Cathedral, Champs-Élysées, Parc des Princes, and the Stade de France. But Paris is more than just its sights – the feeling makes the city of love special. The people are friendly and the delicious cuisine is so great. I would try to eat delicious crêpes and fresh baguettes from a little bakery. I also dream to go to Disneyland Paris too because it looks like so much fun. My brother and I would take lots of pictures and laugh a lot. Paris has always been my dream city. I think also it's the dream city of my brother – full of magic, adventure, and memories waiting to happen.

Special MENTION

A big round of applause to all the amazing kids who participated! Your creativity, effort, and enthusiasm truly impressed us. Thank you for being part of it!

Japan is one of those rare place where you feel like you're walking through both the future and age past at the same time. For me, Japan is special because it shows how tradition and innovation can live side by side - and how even in the busiest cities, there's always a space to breathe, reflect and feel connected. One fun activity that happened there? Sushi restaurant. Who was there with you? I was with my best friend.

-Sophia (12)

A special and magic place for me, Guimarães. Guimarães is a special place for me because in this city all has begun. The history of Portugal. My mother is from that region, that's why it is a part of my life. This place combined the past with the present, all started in 1128. "The Batalha de S. Mamede". The queen from Iberian Peninsula, had a big discussion with her son. So the son Dom Alfonso Henriquez started a fight and won. After this fight, Dom Alfonso Henriquez built the Republic of Portugal. I was visiting this special place with my whole family; my grandparents, my parents, and more. We love to do big family trips. In this place aren't many funny places. There are interesting places like the castel, churches, or the house from the king, that's now a very nice museum. The price for these activities are not expensive, so another point to go there. It was so nice, I would visit again and again.

-Leticia (14)

China is a dream travel destination for students who love history, culture, and adventure. I would love to take Haythar with me like Imagine walking along the Great Wall, one of the world's greatest wonders, or exploring the Forbidden City in Beijing, where emperors once lived. In Xi'an, you can see the amazing Terracotta Army, thousands of life-sized statues built over 2,000 years ago. Students will enjoy trying delicious foods like dumplings, noodles, and sweet treats from local street markets. Nature lovers can visit the beautiful mountains of Zhangjiajie or cruise down the Li River in Guilin. China also offers the chance to practice Mandarin and learn more about Chinese traditions, festivals, and daily life. With its mix of ancient wonders and modern cities, China is an exciting and unforgettable destination for young travelers eager to explore the world.

-Khin Pan (13)

I would love to visit Paris because it's an romantic special, historic and also a famous city. It is known for the Eiffel Tower which the iconic symbol of Paris. But Paris is also known the Louvre Museum, the world's largest art museum. But I wouldn't go alone. I would go with my brother Pouya. He's like my cherry on the top. In Paris I would love to taste the famous and sweet croissant and baguette. I think it will be very tasty but for the desert I would choose crêpes. And the rest of the day I would just in a hotel with Pouya.

-Saami (16)

Japan is my dream travel destination! I'd love to visit Tokyo for the bright lights, crazy fashion, and awesome clothing stores. I'd eat mochi, ramen (not the instant kind!) and maybe even try a vending machine meal just for fun. I'd wear a kimono in Kyoto, see ancient temples, and watch cherry blossoms fall like pink snow.

I'd love to visit those themed cafés and try some snacks and drinks there.

I would also cross the famous shibuya crossing street. I want to ride the Shinkansen (bullet train) and visit Mount Fuji for the ultimate selfie. Japan feels like a mix of the future and the past, and i'd love to go there with my family. My mom, dad and little sister. I think it would be the most unforgettable trip of our lives!

-Hay Thar (14)

Italy is a wonderful country in Europe. I want to visit Venice. It's an interesting city. The city is a unique city. There are no cars on streets. Only water, a lot of bridges and boats. To start the exotic trip, I will take my whole family with me. We are all big fans of Italy. We love the delicious cuisine with noodles, spaghetti and pizza, the football clubs and also the cities. At first we will rent our own boat and get a tour around the city with a guide. I plan to take a lot of photos and enjoy the day. The next stop is a famous restaurant in Venice called Ristorante Quadri (Michelin star). A funny idea comes to my mind because it's a hot day. I want to throw Pouya on and swim overboard. My parents will film that. To give the trip a cherry on top we will visit a café with excellent hot chocolate and cake. The food will knock my socks off. What a wonderful trip that would be...

Parent Tip: Read Us a Story

Children love listening to the same stories again and again – they never seem to tire of hearing their favourites! Repetition helps them actively participate, anticipating what's coming next and joining in with enthusiasm. Use baby sign language with your children when reading stories to them; you'll find they often choose the story they want by signing the characters from a well-loved tale. Reading isn't just fun – it's essential for literacy development and helps prepare children for school. Make time in your routine to read to your children for at least 20 minutes a day. And most of all, enjoy it! When children know their favourite books by heart, they feel like real readers and build confidence – a gift that lasts a lifetime.
